HOMELESSNESS & TRAUMA

As reported in the Salt Lake Tribune, continuing growth in Utah also has led to increases in our homeless population. In 2023, nearly 30,000 people accessed some form of homelessness services. And it is often tied to trauma.

For those who have suffered trauma and the ongoing deprivation of human dignity, we cannot expect them to pull themselves up by their bootstraps - first, they must be given boots before they are set along the path toward recovery.

JUNE IS LGBTQIA+ PRIDE MONTH

Evaluating ACEs among LGBTQIA+ adults, 83% reported one or more adverse childhood experiences, or ACEs, compared to heterosexual adults where 64% reported one or more ACE.

Similarly, 52% - over half - of LGBTQIA+ adults reported three or more ACEs versus 26% for heterosexual adults.
